

is an incredible songwriter with an amazing voice. He also covers rock and roll and folk rock artists from the '60's, '70's and 80's. His stories, from watching Frankenstein on the late movie with Jimmy Buffett and coloring with Dolly Parton, to hanging out with Richie Havens and touring with The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, are as entertaining as the songs they inspired, and prompted singer/songwriter Mare Lennon to quip, "Warren is the Forrest Gump of Folk."

Warren discovered America August 1, 1952 on a Texas farm. By the age of twelve he was playing piano, guitar and saxophone, and singing in the church choir. Warren also plays bass, harmonica, kazoo, accordion, autoharp, washboard, and various implements of percussion.

Extra-curricular activities at North Texas State University included joining in on back stage jams with John Denver and Helen Reddy, and The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band at concerts he co-produced for the school.

In 1973 he began working with bands in Texas and Louisiana, and he moved to Colorado in 1979. In the early '80's he spent a few months each year touring with The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, The Little River Band and Chick Corea working on their production crews as stage manager and lighting director.

His work with The Dirt Band led to performances with them in Anchorage, Alaska, Michael Martin Murphey's West Fest at Copper Mountain, and at Hudson Gardens plus numerous concerts with John McEuen & Jimmy Ibbotson, including The Rocky Mountain Opry shows at Red Rocks, which featured Bonnie Raitt, Arlo Guthrie, Leon Russell, Doc Watson, Leo Kottke, The Ozark Mountain Daredevils, Donovan, Steve Goodman, The Denver Symphony, John Hartford, David Bromberg, Asleep At The Wheel and others. Warren and John have also opened for The Marshall Tucker Band, been joined on stage by Doug Kershaw and once The Dixie Chicks opened for them.
